The entrance to Chapel Off Chapel is located at 12 Little Chapel Street. There are two designated accessible car places in the carpark.

There are two automatic doors that will open on their own when you get close.

The foyer is where you wait before the doors open for your show.

There is a projected video on the left-hand side wall.

Music is usually playing, and there might be announcements made over the loudspeaker before the show.

When you arrive, there may be other people already in the foyer.

It may be noisy.

There are tables and chairs, bar tables and stools, and comfortable couches in the foyer to sit on as you wait.

There is also a bar that wraps around the customer service area, and a low bar next to the water station.

The box office is located at the front and to the right as you enter the foyer.

You can buy tickets and pick up tickets from the box office.

You can ask the staff at the box office for help.

The bar is located at the back of the foyer.

Here you can purchase drinks both alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks and snacks

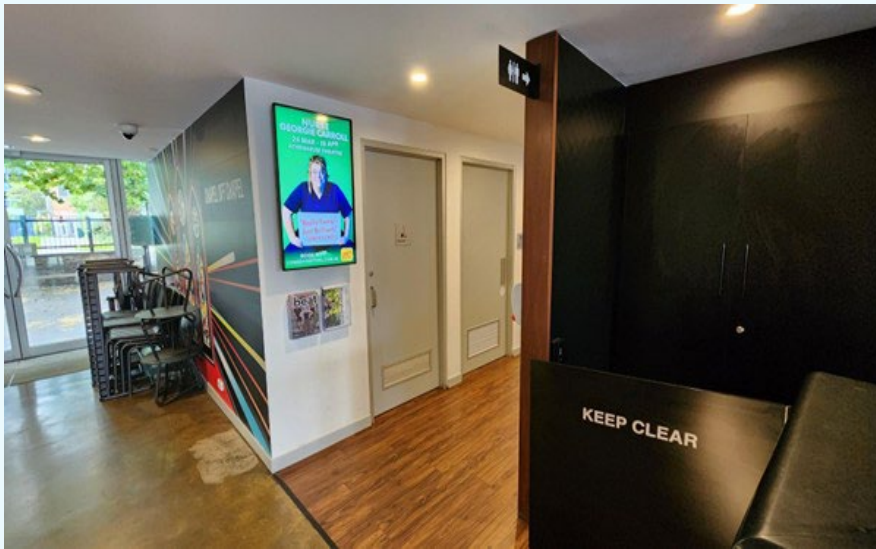

Cold drinks and snacks can be taken into the theatre when you watch the show.

You will need to use a credit or Debit card as there is no cash used in the venue.

There is a complimentary chilled and filtered water station in between the bar and box office counters.

The glasses on the counter are clean and ready to use.

Bathrooms are located behind the bar.

There is a sign at the end of the bar to guide you.

There are women's, men's, and all gender accessible toilets available.

Anyone is welcome to use any bathroom they feel most comfortable with.

All bathrooms have one accessible stall, and sanitary bins.

The men's bathroom also has urinals and an incontinence bin.

The all-gender accessible bathroom has a changing table, sanitary bins, handles and arm rails, and a lowered sink.

The entrance to the courtyard has a non-automatic door that can be heavy to open.

During rainy weather or when the venue is opening, there might be stacked outdoor furniture along the right-hand wall.

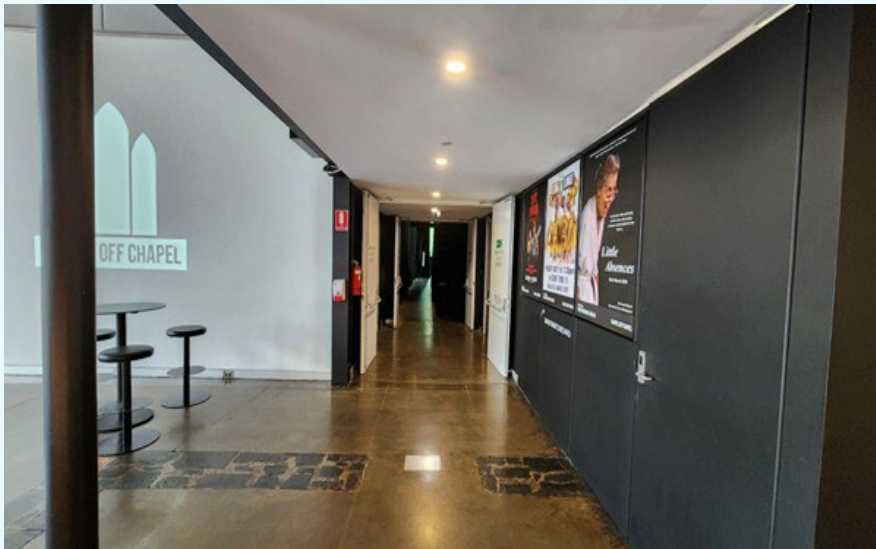

The courtyard is sheltered by a large tree.

There is a bright spotlight that might be turned on at night.

There are tables and chairs for seating, and long benches.

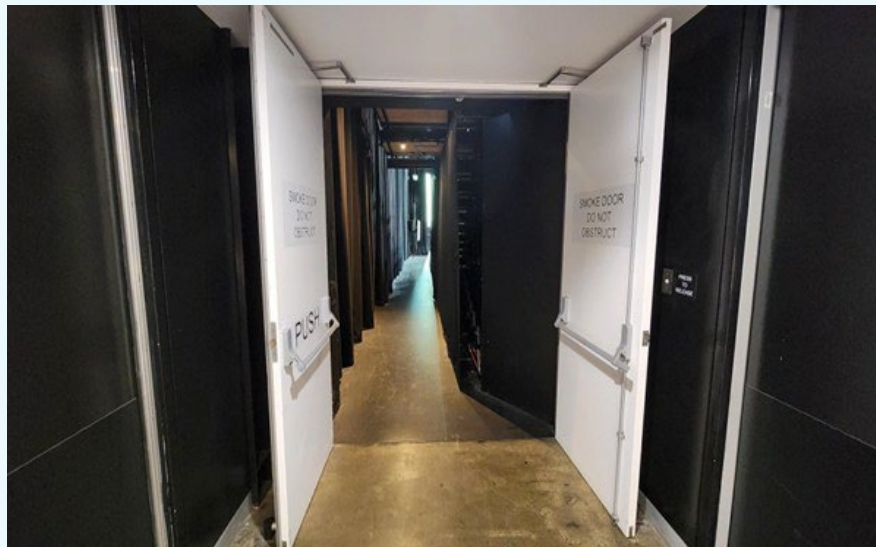

You are allowed to drink alcohol in the courtyard.

Depending on the season there can be large amount of pollen coming off the park trees.

You enter Chapel shows through corridors.

The doors remain closed until staff direct visitors to enter the theatre, usually 15 minutes before the show is due to start.

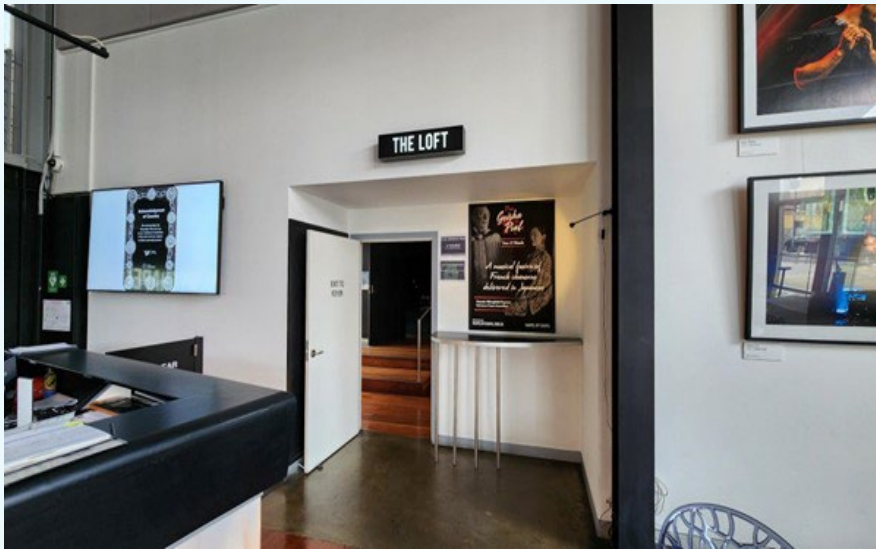

This will be done by theatre bells or an announcement, or both, over the loudspeaker.

The Chapel holds around 250 people at a time.

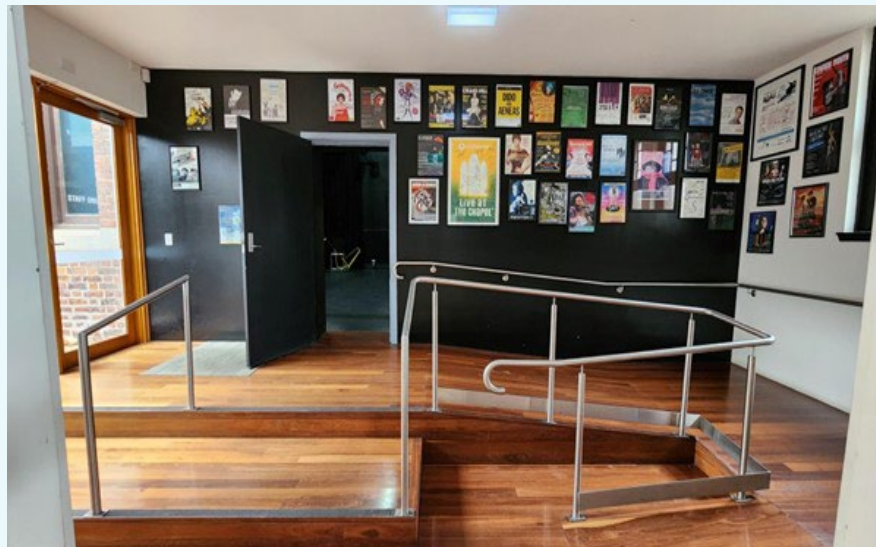

There is accessible seating with no stairs available in the front row. All shows have assigned seating.

The seats fold out, and there is aisle lighting on the staircase if you need to leave during the show.
